Alton L. Collins Solar Project

The Oregon Clean Power Co-op, in partnership with Camp and Retreat Ministries, will finance the installation of 150 kW of solar panels at the Alton L. Collins United Methodist Church Retreat Center, in Eagle Creek, Oregon. The ground-mounted solar panels will go in an open area across the road to the east of the retreat center, and are expected to produce more than 187,500 kWh of clean, renewable electricity annually, supplying nearly half of the center's annual electricity usage, and reducing its carbon footprint by an amount equivalent to not driving a passenger car 333,000 miles.

Funding for the project will come from Energy Trust of Oregon, a grant from the United Methodist Board of Camp and Retreat Ministries Association, donations, investment by community members through the Co-op, and tax credits taken by a third-party investor / system owner. The system owner will own the solar panels for ten years, and sell the power generated to Camp and Retreat Ministries through a pre-paid Power Purchase Agreement.
